I am going to see a play at Nashville Children’s Theatre. When I get there, I will see a sign that says “Nashville Children’s Theatre”.
When I go into the building, I will be in the Lobby. I will try to stay with my family or group. There might be a lot of people. They will be there to see the play, too.

Before the play, there will be different activities I can do in the lobby. If I see something I want to play, I can ask my mom or dad.
When it’s time to go into the theatre, there may be a line at the door. I will try to wait nicely in line for my turn to go through the door.

When I get to the door into the theatre, an usher will scan my ticket. An usher is someone who can help you find your way. After the ticket is scanned, they will give it back to me, my mom, or dad. In the theatre, my family and I can sit in any seat that is empty.
After I sit in my seat, people might need to walk in front of me to get to their seats. I will try to be helpful by moving my feet out of the way. It is a small space so they may accidently touch me when they walk by.

If I cannot see, I can ask my mom or dad for a booster seat. A booster seat will help me to see the play better when I sit on top of it. There may be some people I don’t know sitting close to me. They are here to see the play, too!
During the play, the actors will be wearing costumes and pretending. I will try to be respectful by staying in my seat, sitting quietly, and watching the play.
If I see something I like or think is funny, I can clap my hands or laugh. Other people sitting by me might clap and laugh at things too! If it is too loud for me I can cover my ears.
Sometimes there might be something that surprises me. An usher standing near the stage will hold up an orange light before something surprising is about to happen.

If I’m feeling scared, I can cover my ears or eyes, hold my mom or dad’s hand, or hug my mom or dad until the surprising part is over.
There is a bathroom available if I need to go when I am at the play.

There are also water fountains I can drink from if I get thirsty during the play.
If the play is too loud for me, I can tell my mom or dad and we can sit in the comfort room in the back of the theatre. I will still be able to see the show but it won’t be as loud.

If I just need a break, I can tell my mom or dad and they can take me to the lobby. I can come back in when I am ready.
I will know the play is over when the actors bow. If I liked the play, I can clap my hands. People around me might clap their hands too. The clapping might be loud, but it won’t last long. If it is too loud, I can cover my ears until it is over.
When the show is over and it is time to leave, everyone will stand up and walk to the exits in the back. It might be crowded. I will try to wait my turn and stay with my family or group to exit the theatre.
When I am respectful by staying in my seat, sitting quietly, and watching the play, my mom and dad will be so proud of me! I might like coming to a play at the Nashville Children’s Theatre.
