Looking to Increase Accessibility for our Community?

TRIAD will be providing two training opportunities to support community organizations interested in increasing accessibility and inclusion.

STAFF AND VOLUNTEER ACCESSIBILITY WORKSHOP (3 HOURS)

WHO CAN ATTEND?
This training is designed for staff and volunteers involved with arts, education, athletic, government, and community organizations.

WHAT WILL THEY LEARN?
The information provided will help organizations increase their ability to include and support individuals with autism spectrum disorders (ASD), intellectual and developmental disabilities, and their families. Topics covered include an overview of ASD and other disabilities, how to communicate with families, effective strategies and supports, and how to respond to challenging situations.

WHEN WILL THIS TAKE PLACE?
Monday, January 14, 2019
9 a.m. to 12 noon

TRAIN-THE-TRAINER LAB: BUILDING CAPACITY FOR COMMUNITY INCLUSION (6 HOURS)

WHO CAN ATTEND?
This training is designed for staff who are involved or interested in identifying accessibility challenges and solutions for individuals with autism spectrum disorder and other intellectual and developmental disabilities and helping to build capacity within their organization.

WHAT WILL THEY LEARN?
Participants will receive resources to provide training to their organization using TRIAD online training modules and will learn skills to develop evidence-based resources for general use or specific events at their organization. Attendees will have the opportunity to identify and create supports to implement, as well as have access to continued TRIAD support following the training.
